Press Release

Celeste Kellogg on Tour!

On February 24, 17 year-old country rising star Celeste Kellogg will embark on a nine city tour with Gibson Guitars to promote her new album "This Is Where I Wanna Be" and newly released single "The Look."

Nashville, TN, January 21, 2011: Celeste Kellogg, Nashville's newest rising star, will claim her time in the spotlight when she heads out on tour this February. Endorsed by Gibson Guitars, the "Where I Wanna Be" Tour will include school performances, as well as press only showcases, all while promoting Celeste's first album release. Fans may remember Celeste from the group RD7, of which she was a member at the young age of only 12. Not only does Celeste shine behind the microphone, she spent much of 2010 starring in the film "Lindsey's Way," which is due to air in 2011. Now, at 17 – after opening for the likes of Leann Rimes, Miley Cyrus, and the Jonas Brothers – Celeste is back to show she has what it takes to be one of today's top pop/country singers and performers.
